Nicholasville, Ky., July 14—A woman giving her name as Mrs. E. L. Hendrixson, of Lincoln county, came here Wednesday and secured a writ of habeas corpus, causing Walter Miller, a 9 year old boy of this city, to be brought into court. She claims that the boy is her son by a former marriage and that his name is Walter Fairchild. She says that she became sick about six years ago and that she left the child with Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Miller, who then lived in Garrard county, but later on moved to Jessamine county.

She also claims that four years ago she received a telegram stating her son had died and that he was buried in the Lancaster cemetery. She went to Lancaster and inquired about the child and was told by the keeper of the cemetery that he knew nothing of the burial. Later she was informed that the child was buried in a graveyard near Camp Nelson.

While making these inquiries she was told by Edward Simpson, who operates a ferry on the Kentucky river, that the child was still living and was with Mr. and Mrs. Miller in Nicholasville. She says that she recognized her son as soon as she saw him.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller both claim that they never saw the woman before and that the child is not her son, although they admit that the boy is not their own.

This same child was visited by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Glass, of Newark, N. J., in 1916, while they were seeking their son, who was kidnapped.

Mrs. Hendrixson says that the reason her son was reported dead was because he is heir to a large estate in Tennessee, and that she thinks the parties are trying to prevent him receiving his benefits from it.

The case was postponed until next Monday.

VETERINARIANS GIVEN FACTS FROM RESEARCH

(By Associated Press)
Lexington, Ky., July 14—Research work conducted during the season just passed on the breeding farms of farmers who rear thoroughbred horses has shown that a large per cent of the sterility found in these animals is due to the stallion, W. S. Anderson, of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, told the Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association in addressing them in their summer meeting held here this week.

Heretofore, it has been assumed in research work, that the mare, almost exclusively, was to blame for the failure of these animals to reproduce, he said. "The field work of this season proves that this assumption is not correct and that the stallion must share a great part of the responsibility," he said.

Overdue during the season, dead germ cells and the presence of pus in the semen were outlined as the three main causes for the sterility of males.

EARL COMBS MAKES SENSATIONAL CATCH

Earl Combs, Richmond lad, who has been making a name in the sporting world, added another trophy to his splendid record in Tuesday's game. The Louisville papers have been saying nice things about the many hits he has been garnering for the Colonels, and now they have begun to talk about his wonderful work in the field. The Times had this to say of his sensational catch Tuesday:

Altho Earl Combs got but one hit yesterday, he performed services just as valuable as tho he had a perfect day with the war club. A play, which will long remain in the memory of the fans who saw the game, came at the start of the Hens' half of the seventh inning. Grimes, first up, sent a scorching drive to left field that was labeled for at least a triple. Earl sprinted at the crack of the bat and raced over to the end of the signs around the outfield and leaping at the last moment, showed his gloved hand high into the air and speared the drive. It was one of the most sensational catches ever witnessed at Eclipse Park. The catch prevented the Hens from getting at least one more run.

EASTERN MAKES FINE ATTENDANCE REPORT

The Eastern Kentucky State Normal makes a remarkable attendance report for this year with total of 2,698, and compared with a similar report for last year, a decided increase may be seen. This school is now reaching more people, who desire the advantages of an education, than ever before in its history.

The total enrollment for the session beginning September, 1921, and extending to the present date, shows 1,741 enrolled in the Normal School proper; 196 in the Training School and 46 in the Model Rural School.

A report for the school year 1920-21 shows a total enrollment in the Normal of 1,425; in the Training School 134; in the Model Rural School, 56, and in the Model High School, 64. This year the Model High School is considered as part of the Normal School proper.

The spring term of 1922 had the largest enrollment of any term in the history of the school with a total of 930.

The Eastern Kentucky State Normal School had charge of the extension summer schools last year and had a total enrollment of 1,320. This work has been turned over to the state department this year and the enrollment is given out at Frankfort instead of here.

In the correspondence and extension work Eastern had for the last year a total of 321. At the present time there are 540 enrolled in this work.

Menifee county has one student enrolled at the Normal this year. This is the first in six or more years. In the opinion of some who have been connected with this work for years, there has not been a student at Eastern from Martin county for at least six years. Students from these counties probably attend school nearer home.

$100,000,000 FEDERAL AID FOR GOOD ROADS

Kentucky's Part Is $944,786 — Average Cost Per Mile Has Been $17,120

(By Associated Press)
Washington, July 14—Approximately $100,000,000 will be spent for good road construction throughout the country during the fiscal year which began July 1. This will be brought about by the continuation of federal aid for good roads under recent authorization of an appropriation of almost fifty million dollars for distribution among the several states. Under the conditions of the aid each state must match the sum allotted it.

At the same time, the postoffice appropriation bill signed by President Harding June 18, authorized appropriation of $65,000,000 for the same purpose, to be expended during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1923, and $75,000,000 for the succeeding fiscal year. The conditions are the same for all three years and will bring the total amount expended during the period, if the states adhere to the stipulations and expend like sums, to $380,000,000. The funds will be administered by the Secretary of Agriculture through the Bureau of Good Roads.

It is estimated that the $380,000,000 appropriated will result in the construction of more than 25,000 miles of road, which added to the 46,000 miles that are expected to result from previous federal appropriations, makes a total of 71,000 miles, or nearly 40 per cent of the estimated 180,000 miles of good roads in the system of federal aid roads now being outlined.

With the aid of the $650,000,000 previously appropriated by the government, 17,000 miles of road had been completed on last May 31 and in addition, nearly 14,500 miles were under construction, involving more than $287,500,000 of federal aid. To match this fund the states have appropriated approximately $380,000,000, making a total of $667,500,000.

The average cost per mile of all types of road construction with federal aid has been $17,120, of which 43 per cent has been the cost to the government. The new legislation, however, reduces the maximum participation on the part of the government from $20,000 to $16,250 for the first fiscal year, and $15,000 thereafter. The appropriations are to be used on construction of a connected system of primary, or inter-state, and secondary, or inter-county, roads. It is further provided that the states receiving aid must maintain adequate highway departments, must maintain the federal roads when completed, must construct roads sufficient to the traffic anticipated, and must match the amounts allotted by the government. Otherwise, the federal funds for new projects will be withheld.

Plans for the proposed system have been received by the Bureau of Good Roads from all but 8 states, and the state systems are being co-ordinated so that when joined together they will serve the best interests of the whole country. In the meantime only projects certain to be on the proposed system are being approved.
